NORMAL CONDITIONS MAY NOT LONG BE DELAYED

SENTIMENT MUCH IMPROVED

London Takes Lead in Straightening Out and Restricting Market for American Securities-Demand for Investment Bonds.

BY BROADAN WALL.

NEW YORK, September 17.-Senti-ment in the financial district improves sale had an immediate effect on the loreign exchange market, and stering early broke sharply, although it raillied later, international business hinges largely on ability of the arbitragers to buy sterling exchange on London, and the condition in this market is rapidly approaching normal. "Within the next six weeks, I look for normal conditions in the exchange market," said Julius Marks, one of "Within the next six weeks, I look for normal conditions in the exchange market," said Julius Marks, one of the few members of the Stock Exchange thoroughly conversant with international money markets, having for some years been the New York representative of the Credit Lyonnais, the great French bank, "Interest rates," remarked Mr. Marks, "favor sales of American securities in New York at the present time as balances here command 6 to 8 per cent, while carrying charges in London are from 2 to 1 per cent."

mand 6 to 8 per cent, while carrying charges in London are from 2 to 1 per cent."

London has taken the lead in straightening out and restricting the market for American securities. Some international bankers are still caustic in their criticism because American bankers have not met the situation by a prompt remittance of a substantial amount of gold to London. All the plans suggested for the absorption of foreign relling apparently overlook the fact that American bankers cannot pay in emergency currency for securities that the foreigner wants to sell on a gold basis. Nor would the solution be found by the formation of a government syndicate to absorb foreign sales, to be settled with new promises to pay. The less interference on the part of the gold international markets.

The restriction of trading in London already enforced, will no doubt check future German liquidation. The Canadian Pacific Company will not remit dividends to stockholders that are enemies to the British government, and the transfer of securities in the mames of Austrian and German stockholders to delayed, if not positively prohibited. White some fear is expressed that the Dutch will be sellers of our low-price stocks, this opinion is countered by the hope that they will appreciate the speculative advance likely to occur when the exchange reopens. And in any event most of the American stocks

DUN'S TRADE REVIEW.

NEW YORK, September 18 .- Dun's Hesitancy in entering upon new comnitments continues and a spirit of confident feeling in business circles is by developments in the financial situated by the further improvement in with a view to meeting maturing obli-gations abroad. The prevailing high with a view to meeting matthing obligations abroad. The prevailing high rates for accommodation still evert a restraining influence upon trade expansion, but moderate progress is noted in various leading lines, especially in the Eastern and Western sections of the country. Stimulus has been imparted to retail demands by the end of the vacation season, and lower temperatures have accelerated the distribution of wearing apparel and other fall merchandlse. While the volume of new business is not large, a firmer undertone has developed in the dry goods markets, and reports from cotton mill centres indicate that more machinery is running. Continued strength appears in woolens and worsteds, and the output is being increased, but raw wool is quiet, as most manufacturers are Bradstreet's Report.

Bradstreet's to-morrow will say for Richmond and vicinity.

An optimistic feeling continues to exist in trade clirics. Business, of course, is on a very conservative basis, particularly as to the volume of purchases. At the same time a fair volume of merchandise is changing hands, and foodstuffs are particularly active. In view of the increased prices, liberal offerings of bright tobacco are being marketed at good prices. One market reports an average of 11 cents per pound, and some sales have been made at from 30 cents to 60 cents per pound. Various schemes for marketing the cotton crop are being worked out, and it is believed that fair prices will be obtained. Much needed rains have tallen this week and preparations for the wheat and out planting are being made. An increased acrage of theat is predicted Lumber and building operations continue quiet. The number of unemployed is considerable. Retail trade is quiet. Collections continue slow.

Weekly Cotton Statement.

New York, September 18.—The feature of the week in cotton has been the advancing tendency of Southern spot markets owing largely, it is believed to the buy-a-bale movement and holding in the interior by growers. Some five or six of the Southern markets are now publishing daily spot quotations, but these markets are only considered as reflecting merely immediate conditions in the various localities, and as consequently affording little basis for forward histories.

sequently affording little basis for forward mishiness.

Liquidation of the international conference has proceeded slowly resulting an fat in sales of about 1.59 bales, and it is reported that a syndicate plan is being formulated which may result in taking over the entire remaining interest in a block and thus hasten the respending of the exception of the last government bureau report.

FOREIGNERS ARE BIG BUYERS | WILLIAM AND MARY OPENS OF WHEAT, CORN AND OATS

This is Strengthening Market Factor and Causes Advances—Runaway Prices Not Probable Again.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
CHICAGO, September 18.—Foreigners were big buyers of wheat, corn and easts and flour in all positions to-day. This was the strengthening market factor, and caused advances of 1-2 to 5-8c for wheat, 3-8 to 11-2c for corn and 1-8 to 1-4c for oats. The flour market was strong, with the trend upward. market was strong ward.

The scaboard reported sales of wheat amounting to 569,000 bushels to exporters, and the transactions given out here were 350,000 bushels, also to exhere were 350,000 bushels, also to exhere were 150,000 bushels. porters. Kansas City and St. Louis claimed a good demand for both wheat and flour, and liberal sale of oats. The corn sales here were 290,000 bushels, of which 240,000 bushels were taken by exporters. Oats sales were 650,000 bushels to exporters.

of which 240,000 busnels were taken by exporters. Oats sales were 650,000 busnels to exporters.

The above shows conclusively that while there are occasional halts in the export buying of the various breadstuffs, caution is now being shown, so that a runaway market will not be seen stuns, caution is now being shown, so that a runaway market will not be seen again.

One of the larger grain houses at Minneapolis says that the mills there are sold ahead far enough to insure a heavy grind to January 1, and that farmers are holding for $1 and over. According to the same authority, interior points of Minnesota and South Dakota are selling practically no wheat. Southwestern points say that not over one-fourth of the cash wheat is now being sold by the country that was offering last week. Liverpool wheat was unchanged to 1-2d lower, while the spot market was 2 1-2d higher. Heavy rains have occurred in Europe as well as through Argentina. Shipments from Argentina this week were only 24,000 bushels, and all of this was taken by Brazil. For the corresponding time last year, Argentine shipments were 104,000 bushels. Corn suffered slightly during the early hours of the day, because of the selling pressure shown. Some of this was believed to have been short selling. Later there was a rally of 1 cent, the result of a better cash trade. Wenther was fine and seasonable in the corn belt, but farmers are selling very little.

The range in oats prices was narrow.

Bradstreet's Review.

New York, September 18.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:
There is a rather brighter tinge to commercial and financial affairs this week, and the stubbern optimism so long displayed finds must be supposed to the stubbern optimism so long displayed finds and the stubbern optimism so long displayed finds must be supposed to the successful floating of the New York City loan, the improvement in the sucharge market, consequent upon the enlarged movement abroad of some products, notably grain, steel mafuractures and oils, popular acceptance of the really excellent outlook for the late crops, a more cheerful feeling, with higher prices for cotton at many points in the South, and increased inquiries and ifrmer feeling in the textiles, notably cottons and woolens, for the latter of which foreign inquiry for war purposes is noted. On the other hand, the slowness of manufacturing industry as a whole is notable, the fron and steel trades do not show expansion, immer and the building trades generally are depressed, and the reduced earning ability of much of the industrial population offsets the undeniably profitable returns of the surplus grain-producing regions, while the South, with an excellential fact, possibly record—cotton crop, has an immense problem of conservation and distribution to solve.

Best reports come from the West, particularly the Northwest and the Northern frontier States and cities. Southern trade lags, and uncertainty as to cotton prices in the absence of all exchange facilities and the paucity of export demand is a drag upon trade and collections.

Credit conditions still show strain, and while there is rather more doing in commercial paper, a sign that confidence is growing. Dusiness in that line is not nearly more all exemises in the southern teaching seems pathfully slow.
